

Sanitized - Approved For Release : CIA-RDP75-00001R000300240012-6

CIA Employee Killed in N. J. Pike Crash

25X1A9a

A woman employee of the Central Intelligence Agency was killed yesterday when her car skidded and overturned on the New Jersey Turnpike near Hightstown, N. J.

The woman was identified as Mrs. Odessa M. Griffith, 39, of 4941 N. Capitol st. State Police said her car skidded about 300 feet and turned over several times, landing in a ditch.

Friends said Mrs. Griffith was driving to New York to visit her brother. She also is survived by her husband, Maj. James Griffith, with the Army in the Far East, a daughter, Audrey, of the home address, and a son in the Air Force.

In Washington, a 6-year-old boy was critically injured when struck by a car near Constitution ave. and 12th st. ne.

Police said Lewis Norwood of 209 12th st. ne., was crossing 12th st. when hit by a car driven by Mrs. Myra Licht, 35, of 5716 13th st. nw.

The boy suffered a fractured back, and multiple cuts and bruises.

Early yesterday, seven persons were injured in a two-car collision at New York ave. and 6th st. nw.

Police said a car driven by Charles H. Stolze, 17, of 1420 N. Utah st., Arlington, collided with an automobile driven by Warren H. White, 34, of 3527 New Hampshire ave. nw.

A passenger in Stolze's car, Burton Neal, 17, was thrown through the windshield. He had 68 stitches taken in his face at Emergency Hospital. His brother, Leslie, was treated for shock.

Others injured were: James Pollard, 17, of 1526 N. Utah st., Arlington; Addie Clark, 36, of 661 K st. ne.; and Gwendolyn Clark, 23, of 2010 8th st. nw.

CPYRGHT